COL. SCRIVEN GOES TO CHICAGO

To Referee Meet.

To Referee Meet.

The going of Col. George P. Scriven, of the Signal Corps, to the International aviation meet at Cilicago, where several army aviators are to art as judges, gives the meet an unusual interest for Washington and the army. Col. Scriven will be the official representative of the War Department, and in that capacity he is expected to do much toward advancing aviation to a position of recognized prominence as a valuable resource in war.

Col. Scriven is not only regarded as an authority on the subject of aviation in military use, but he is given credit for having done a great deal for the army schools of aviation, and for bringing the science to its present high standard of effectiveness.
